Dear Parents/Guardians,

Conduct Notifications

The Pastoral Team have been looking at ways to replace the automatic conduct notifications that parents and guardians used to get through Satchel One, since this feature was discontinued last summer. Many of you have expressed how valuable the feature was in supporting your child's good behaviour in school.

Parents and guardians who have children in years 7 and 11 will be familiar with Edulink, having used this platform to book appointments for their recent Parents' Evenings. Edulink is an established management information tool for many schools nationwide.

Following a successful trial over the last few weeks at Farmor's School, the Edulink app will also now offer access to parents and carers to the following:

- Merits and Exceptional Achievement e-postcards
- Behaviour events recorded including 2nd warnings
- Missing equipment/homework/uniform marks.
- Attendance information
- Student timetable
- Make changes to medical and contact information

In addition, there are further features that we will activate once any teething issues are ironed out. This will improve communication between parents and school and further ensure support for excellent behaviour.

Parents and guardians of students in other year groups, who have yet to sign up to Edulink, will receive an email giving details of how to create your account with links to support videos if you require them. Please check your junk mailbox if you don't receive this email in the next two days.

For any queries that cannot be answered by the Edulink support videos, please email studentservices@farmors.gloucs.sch.uk

In the short term, whilst we wait for parents to create their accounts, notifications will be sent via email for all positive or negative conduct events recorded by staff. This will be reviewed at Easter.

Yours faithfully
